

Engineer in Design & Proposal Fire Protection Systems

SICUREX is a leading Fire Protection systems manufacturing company supply high technology fire suppression systems, to a wide range of customers and markets across the Europe, Africa and Middle East.

The business is growing quickly and we need people who can respond and grow with us.

Being a team player is vital, the ability to grow with the business presents a real opportunity. Joining SICUREX will give the successful candidate the chance to rapidly gain experience in a fast moving fire protection system environment, ownership, communication and innovation are key drivers in meeting and exceeding our customers' expectations.

We have a market orientated approach, providing products and systems through partnerships with our customers. Our aim is a long and profitable relationship by being focused on their needs with a responsive service. All members of staff are expected to establish and maintain strong relationships with our customers (systems integrator).

Our future Engineer in design & proposal fire protection systems must have mechanical knowledge, a school base preparation of this type are required and must be demonstrating a knowledge in the use of MS Word, Excel, PowerPoint, AutoCAD software.

Training will be given in all tasks which you undertake and we will provide an adequate training dedicated to the use of VdS hydraulic system software and knowledge of fire protection standards and norms in use.

Responsibilities

To Liaise with our customers to produce system designs, to the companies design manual, international standards and complete calculations using our hydraulic system software.

Prepare client quotations and load orders on the business system.

To produce VdS hydraulic system isometries calculation and AutoCAD system designs where necessary.

To assist where necessary our Regional Sales Manager.

Knowledge of Professional English is mandatory, Italian or French is a plus.

The place of work : offices in United Kingdom (Reading RG1)

Job types : Full time , Permanent

Salary : Min. £ 23.000 ~ £ 25.000 per year

Benefit : Company pension scheme, Work from home, 25 days holiday

Schedule : Monday to Friday, 8Hour shift, no weekend.

Work authorisation: United Kingdom (required)

www.sicurex.net

Contact : Email : info@sicurex.net